WORDPRESS

I was tasked with repopulating blog posts and noting bugs in a Quality Assurance excel sheet.

The screenshot displays the WordPress Dashboard. On the left is a dark sidebar menu with icons and labels for various site management functions: Dashboard, Home, Updates, Jetpack, Posts, Media, Pages, Comments, Portfolio, AffiliateX, Feedback, Appearance, Plugins, Users, Tools, Settings, Yoast SEO, Link Checker, Wordfence, and a Collapse menu button. The main content area is titled 'Dashboard' and contains several widgets. The 'Site Health Status' widget shows a green 'Good' status with a message about performance and security improvements, and a link to the 'Site Health screen'. The 'At a Glance' widget provides a summary of site statistics: 20 Posts, 14 Pages, and an 'Empty Cache Size' button. It also notes the current WordPress version (6.3.1) and theme (Flash), and mentions Akismet spam protection. The 'Activity' widget shows recent site activity. The 'Yoast SEO Posts Overview' and 'Broken Link Checker' widgets are also visible. On the right side, there are widgets for 'Quick Draft', 'WordPress Events and News' (listing upcoming events like 'WordPress Happiness Hour' and 'WordPress 6.3.1 Maintenance Release'), 'Jetpack Stats', 'Wordfence activity in the past week', and 'Yoast SEO / Wincher: Top Keyphrases'.
